

CJC at COP26

How can you get involved?

WATCH CJC AT COP26 01.11.21

CJC is hosting a hybrid online and in-person panel at COP26 'Are Religious Leaders Rising to the Climate Challenge?' This panel will explore not only what religions have to say about the topic but, more importantly, what religions are doing and can do to improve the world on this front.

Watch live here 01.11.21 at 13:30 (UK), 15:30 (SAST), 9:30 (EDT), 19:00 (IST).

HOST AN ECO-SHABBAT

Host an EcoShabbat as a way of engaging on this crucial topic and to include programming on the climate emergency, the Jewish response to climate change and what can we do.

For more information on how to host an EcoShabbat please click here for resources.

LOBBY YOUR GOVERNMENTS

Demand that the world's governments deliver on their promises as part of the Paris Agreement. We must insist that as the global economy recovers from recession, it is not at the expense of the environment. Post-pandemic we need a renewed effort to switch to low-carbon public transport, energy supplies and manufacturing processes.

USE OUR VOICES AND PLATFORMS

Encourage our friends and families, our leaders, and governments. We can use our positions on boards and committees, as elected representatives, and community leaders, as activists and neighbours, to raise awareness and take action.

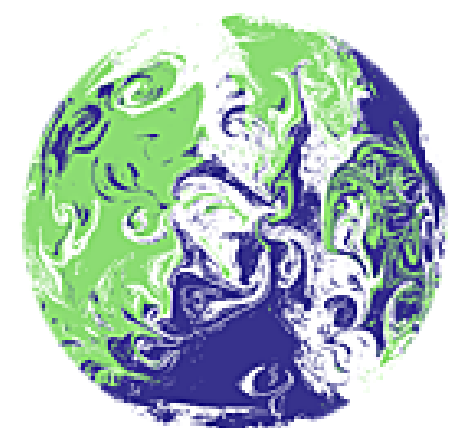

For more information please visit our manifesto 'In Pursuit of Climate Justice.'

RETHINK OUR HABITS

Rethink our patterns of consumption, trade and travel so that we balance the need for trade and tourism with the needs of the planet, so we promote ethical, fair trade as a means of equity not exploitation, and we reduce the impact of air travel, which is one of the major contributors to greenhouse gases.
